Mr. Landegger's professional memberships include the Los Angeles County Bar Association, Labor & Employment Section. Since taking a labor law class in law school, he has been intrigued by the employer/employee relationship, and the tremendous benefits it offers each. He has seen it become unbalanced with laws tending to favor the employee. He is an advocate for employer rights. For more than two decades, through education, prevention, and innovative problem-solving, his firm has worked with employers to maintain a balance that can keep a company healthy and profitable.
